Who we are...

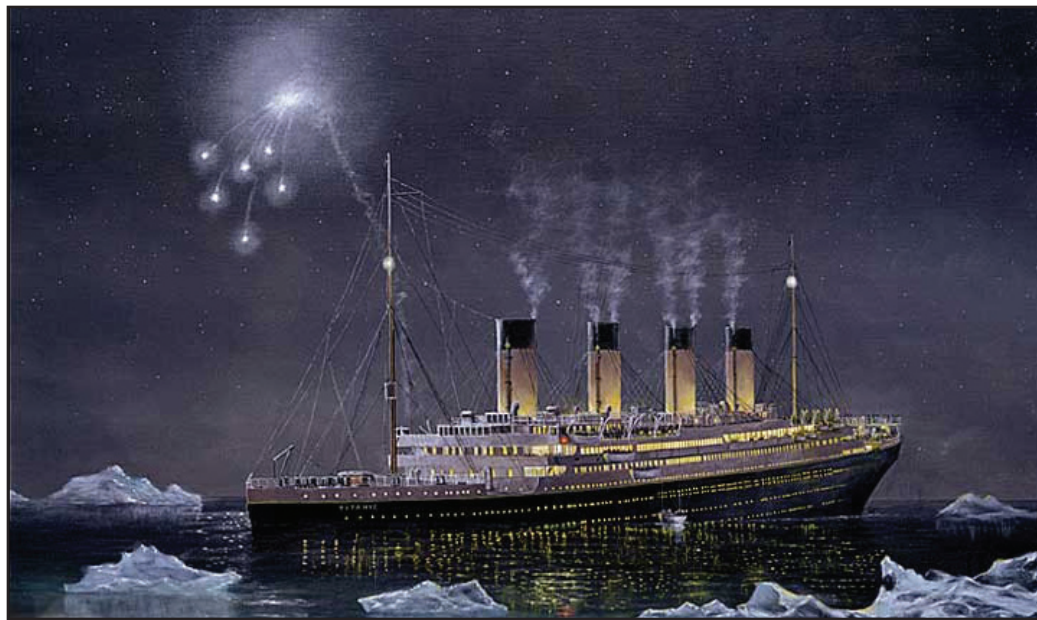

For more than 100 years, the dramatic story of the Royal Mail Ship Titanic, her passengers and crew has captivated the world. Despite the passage of more than a century, her story continues to add new chapters. For those interested in the latest discoveries, Titanic International Society has become a respected source worldwide. Authors from three continents contribute to our acclaimed, fully-illustrated quarterly journal, Voyage, which offers the results of in-depth research through fascinating articles available nowhere else. Indeed, we are the only Titanic organization who can count two trustees among those who have made – and written about – the perilous 12,500-foot dive to Titanic's wreck.

While our focus is Titanic, we are also interested in other ocean liners of the world, past and present.

Through Voyage, through our website, www.titanicinternationalsociety.org, and through Facebook, we keep our members well informed.

What we do...

TIS is more than a respected journal. We're an organization that does things. We've held memorable conventions in Titanic-related cities like Belfast, Halifax, Washington, DC and New York, and other venues including Chicago, Boston, Ottawa, Philadelphia, Montreal and Mystic, Connecticut. These full conventions are supplemented by occasional one-day, informal "gatherings," and even several cruises together.

With members invited to "get involved," TIS encourages robust discussions about Titanic and her people. We are one of the few Titanic societies that regularly hold elections of officers, survey our membership for their opinions and ideas, and hold annual business meetings where members can help shape our society's future and ask questions.

For us, history is alive, and since its 1989 founding, the Society has been active in preserving and disseminating Titanic history. Among our projects:

- Identifying six previously unidentified Titanic victims buried in Halifax and causing their names to be inscribed on their gravestones.
- Presenting a plaque to Ellis Island remembering Titanic's passengers, who never passed through the immigration station there.
- Providing all on-board historical programs during the 1996 Titanic Research and Recovery Expedition Cruise.
- Sponsoring a symposium, "The Science of Titanic, featuring experts on sonar, wrecksite microbiology and marine engineering.

- Providing gravestones and poignant dedication services for third class Titanic passengers Kate Buckley and Oscar Palmquist.
- Offering lectures during the 2012 Titanic Memorial Cruise that retraced the ship's path across the ocean.
- Presenting a plaque to the National Postal Museum, Smithsonian Institution, Washington, DC, commemorating Titanic's postal workers.
- Providing historical information to dozens of television programs, magazine and newspaper stories.

- Rediscovering and arranging for the public display of the Titanic Musicians' Memorial Plaque after a nearly 50-year disappearance.

Join us!

Membership in Titanic International Society is open to all who have an interest in Titanic, her passengers and crew and in the great liners of the past and present. Though based in the United States, TIS enjoys participation from members throughout the world.

We invite you to join us by completing the application form and sending it to us with your first year's dues. (Please read the directions carefully!) You'll soon receive your personalized membership certificate, four issues of Voyage during your membership year, advance notice of meetings and other events, and so much more.

We look forward to welcoming you as a member of Titanic International Society!
